

The BCCNM board on Feb. 27, 2025, approved rescinding the LPN Scope of Practice Standards, Limits, and Conditions and shifting the content into practice standards and learning resources. These changes came into effect June 2, 2025.

What are the scope of practice documents?

The scope documents each comprise several standards, with corresponding limits and conditions, as well as narrative content.

Why the changes?

The Health Professions and Occupations Act (HPOA) is new legislation approved in 2022, but not yet in force. It will replace the Health Professions Act (HPA). To prepare for this change, BCCNM reviewed and reorganized the scope documents for LPNs, RNs, and RNs.

We've also heard from nurses and others that it is challenging to find the information they need in the current scope documents because they are lengthy and complex. The intermingling of narrative content with standards, limits, and conditions is also confusing.

IMPORTANT: The standards, limits, and conditions are NOT changing as part of this project, and neither will your day-to-day practice. Only the format of the standards and where you find the information on the BCCNM website will be different. The new scope practice standards will be found here:

What's happening to the rest of the content in the scope documents?

Our Standards & Guidance team is creating a series of learning modules to support nurses better understand their scope of practice and related scope concepts. We will be sharing more information on this in the coming weeks so keep an eye on your inbox for updates.
